services

Planning. Whether a specific tradition, a blending of two religious (or non-religious) preferences, or something entirely new, I have seen just about everything, and can help design and prepare your ceremony your way.

Officiating. I have officiated dozens of weddings over fifteen years of ministry. Not only will your wedding ceremony be capably facilitated, but my particular brand of humor, warmth and professional skill will make it one for the ages.

Counseling. Pre-marital counseling is not the terrible and outdated torture it once was; marriage is a lifelong commitment, and asking hard questions, learning to communicate, naming expectations and dreaming about the future are all vital to healthy marriages. We'll have meaningful conversation as we plan your service, and I get to know you both better.
